

The Natural History Museum aims to raise public awareness, organizing information campaigns and information dissemination on the Protected Area of Strofyliia. The museum accepts both individual and group visits upon request.

Visitors can have guided tours by qualified staff and learn about specific features, the flora and fauna of the region and the values of protected habitats. In addition, small groups can be guided to specific selected ecotourism routes in order to become acquainted with the forest, wetlands and dunes. The Information Center and the Museum of Natural History located in Lapa Achaia, is directly opposite the railway station.
